

In recognition of International Development Week 2015

© ACIDI-CIDA/Roger LeMayne

The International Development Studies Society (IDSS), the International Development Studies Program (IDS) and the Graduate Programme in Development Studies (DVST) invite you to

MEET THE DEVELOPMENT STUDIES FACULTY AT YORK

and a dialogue involving both undergraduate and graduate students on

WHY IS DEVELOPMENT STUDIES IMPORTANT TODAY?

to be followed by a RECEPTION - refreshments offered

Time: Wednesday, February 4, 2:30-5:00pm

Location: McLaughlin College Room 014 (Junior Common Room)

This event is open to the public. York undergraduate and graduate students are most welcome!

Confirmed professors:

Miguel Gonzalez, Ricardo Grinspun, Jennifer Hyndman, Pablo Idahosa, Merouan Mekouar, Viviana Patroni and Fahim Quadir

Contact:

Allison Nephew <idstudiessociety@gmail.com>, President, IDSS

Orlene Ellis orlene@yorku.ca, GPA, DVST

Audaisha Franks audaisha@yorku.ca, UPA, AFRS, LACS, SAST, IDS